

PR & Media

BAHU.COM SECURES FUNDING
Lightspeed-Gemini Internet Lab (LGiLab) invests in European student social networking site

AUDIO PIXELS CLOSES SERIES A ROUND LED BY LIGHTSPEED AND DCM

Herzliya, Israel – March 27, 2007 – Audio Pixels, Ltd. a manufacturer of leading-edge audio speaker technologies specifically designed for the digital revolution, confirmed that it has closed a Series A round led by two leading Silicon Valley venture-capital firms — Lightspeed Venture Partners and DCM (formerly known as Doll Capital Management). A group of strategic private investors also participated in the round.

WIKIO SECURES 4 MILLION EUROS IN SERIES A FUNDING

Blog and media search company receives funding for research and development, and international expansion Luxembourg – January 23 2007: Wikio, operator of the popular personalized Web information page announced today it has closed a Series 'A' round of funding totaling €4 million ($ 5.3 million). The financing round was led by Lightspeed Venture Partners along with Gemini Israel Funds.

LIGHTSPEED VENTURE PARTNERS

MindSet provides media and strategic consulting to the Herzliya-based Israel Office of Lightspeed Venture Partners, a leading provider of early-stage venture capital to technology companies, working in close tandem with Israel partner Yoni Cheifetz.

MindSet has organized media coverage for Yoni Cheifetz and Lightspeed investments in leading Israeli business and general newspapers. We continue to optimize Cheifetz's wide experience and depth of knowledge to arrange speaking engagements for him in top-tier venues across the business and academic worlds. In September 2007, Mindset organized a consumer technology conference sponsored by Lightspeed, featuring Hirokazu Kato, managing director of Yamaha Global Corporation, which garnered high-profile media coverage.

Lightspeed, which assists entrepreneurs in creating industry-leading technology companies, manages $1.3 billion of committed capital and focuses on seed and early-stage IT and energy-related investments in the United States, Asia and, for the past decade, in Israel.

Yoni Cheifetz opens the consumer tech conference

Yamaha's Hirokazu Kato

Israeli high-tech guru Yossi Vardi (left) with Yoni Cheifetz